CODE ENFORCEMENT ANNOUNCES UPDATED ONLINE PAYMENT SYSTEM

INDIANAPOLIS – The Department of Code Enforcement (DCE) today launched its updated online payment system, creating an easy and convenient way to apply and pay for several permits, licenses, and any non-Uniform Traffic Ticket fee.

“Our goal has always been to provide efficient user-friendly means for contractors, business owners, and citizens to conduct business with the department,” said DCE Director Rick Powers. “Our easy-to-use online payment system is just another example of the customer friendly culture here in Indianapolis.”

Driven by the model ‘Why Wait in Line, When You can Go Online,’ DCE’s online payment system is comprised of two online services. Through partnership with subscriber-based Local Government Online (LoGO) Indiana, users can apply and pay for a wide-range of permits and licenses. Additionally, DCE’s web portal creates an easy and affordable way to pay any non-Uniform Traffic Ticket fee, including plan review, administrative, violation, and zoning.

The following is a list of permits and licenses made available for online application and payment through LoGO. For more information on applying and paying for the below services by becoming a LoGO subscriber, please visit: www.biz.indygov.org.
